HIALEAH HIGHLIGHTED IN NEW BOOK BY LOCAL AUTHOR

Hialeah, Florida – March 25, 2008, Mayor Julio Robaina, the City Council and the City of Hialeah along with local author Seth H. Bramson celebrated the launch of his new book “The Curtiss-Bright Cities: Hialeah, Miami Springs and Opa Locka.” The historical book is Bramson’s thirteenth published work and it highlights Hialeah from the time the 125,000 acre land was purchased by Glenn H. Curtis and James H. Bright all the way to Julio Robaina’s Mayoral term. Mr. Bramson was present during the City of Hialeah Council Meeting to present the book to Mayor Robaina and express his sincere appreciation for the City of Hialeah’s cooperation during the entire process. “I was so pleased with the warmth and graciousness Mayor Robaina and all the departments within the City of Hialeah treated me with during this entire process,” Mr. Bramson said.

The book features Hialeah’s historical information obtained from Mr. Bramson’s Miami Memorabilia Floridiana in America collection; the largest collection in country containing South Florida’s most precious and rare artifacts collected throughout the years. Seth Bramson is the Senior Collector of the collection as well as the founder of Miami Memorabilia Collector’s Club.
